

ABSTRACT

A fuel transport tube having improved fuel vapor permeation characteristics comprising an inner conductive high density polyethylene tubular structure, an aluminum barrier layer on the outside surface of the high density polyethylene inner tubular layer, and a non-conductive thermoplastic layer on the outer surface of the aluminum layer; and a method for making the fuel transport tube are disclosed.